From October 2004 onwards, until end of 2005 -

FREE TRIAL MEMBERSHIP FOR 15 MONTHS

Scientific Association for INsurance, Financial, and Operational Risk Management

The public, scientific association, whose activities are being performed on a non-profit basis, intends to promote and advance the information of the financial and insurance industry and of its supervisory authorities, in the fields of mathematical finance resp. actuarial mathematics, and of insurance, financial and operational risk management. Risk management in these areas, which has to cope with both, the highly developed economic requirements and at the same time with the ever more advancing national and international supervisory standards, is a mathematical/methodical and also a software technological challenge. Accordingly, one of the Association's priorities is the information of its members, and partly also of the general public, about

- advanced methods of mathematical finance resp. of actuarial mathematics
- suitable stochastic resp. statistical models
- fast numerical algorithms resp. other simplified methods of problem solving
- modern methods of insurance, financial and operational risk management
- modern software technology in those areas
- reports on concrete systems realisations in practice, in particular if assigned or carried out by banks, financial service providers or insurance companies/pension funds
- all related aspects of the pertaining, existing resp. planned, national and international supervisory standards.

- Please fill in all the entries in this online form and press the „OK“ button on this registration web page. Your new INFORM Member registration will be dealt with by the INFORM office a.s.a.p., and you will then be contacted via mail (if your mail address is valid) or via phone to confirm your INFORM membership.
  - You will at once receive your personal passcode for entering the INFORM Member Area with the „fully interactive“ Content Management System for info exchange and risk management related personal publication. If not specified differently, your user name for login will be set as your second (family) name, with the first letter as Capital Letter.
- If you are entitled to the free 2005 trial membership (as ALM 2004 participant with full registration fee payment), please confirm by a brief reply to the above membership notification e-mail that you intend to take this trial offer, so you will not be charged the fee for 2005 (current annual INFORM membership fees: regular members € 15 - sponsoring members: € 900). From 2006 onwards you will become a paying member, unless you would again terminate your INFORM membership (end 2005).

*) At present, just a couple of days after a relaunch of this new INFORM website, the info texts on the pages are still only in German – an English website extension is planned for the near future. Here, we have added the English translations to the German field entry specifiers, as the latter are visible in the original online form, for your convenience in case you are not fluent in German.
